PUTTING COMMUNITY FIRST

David Wilson is a community innovator who passionately advocates that in our ever more globalized world, the future is local, and that all dimensions of heritage – natural, cultural, tangible and intangible, are at the heart of the sustainable development equation. He emphasises that the preservation of cultural heritage assets ( unique customs, traditions, language, food, clothing, art ) enables important aspects of the past to be identified, protected and managed for the benefit of present and future generations, while at the same time offering important social, environmental and economic benefits.

Founder and Director of Heritage Futures International (NZ) Ltd, over the past two decades David has worked with over 700 communities from local to international level, across New Zealand, Australia, Somalia-West Africa, Malaysia and India.
